Safety meeting in McKownville on roads a good starting point

To the Editor:

The Town of Guilderland Traffic Safety Committee members came to McKownville on Friday evening, May 8. They met with a number of concerned and interested neighborhood residents to discuss parking regulations and enforcement on three streets Parkwood, Glenwood, and Norwood streets. Recently, there have been concerns raised about the existing regulations by some local residents.

It became clear over the course of the meeting that there were differences of opinion between neighbors on exactly what changes might be beneficial and where no change in regulation is wanted.

There emerged a consensus that some further street-by-street communication might be necessary, but there did seem to be a couple of ideas that were pretty near consensus. Thus, the meeting was positive because it provided a good starting point.

I want to express my appreciation to the members of the Traffic Safety Committee for giving up part of their Friday evening and traveling to the eastern end of town to accommodate this group. Thanks to town board liaison Pat Slavick for arranging the meeting and to Guilderland Police Captain Curtis Cox for his role as coordinator of the committee.

Also, thanks to Ken Runion and Paul Pastore for giving up their time and attending. This generous and willing attitude is what makes our community so special.
